

Fight

Chorus:

C F7
Why must we argue, fight, struggle, and fuss?
C G7
Why can't we learn to agree to disagree?
C F7
What happened to freedom of thought and freedom of speech?
C G7 C
Aren't we living in the land of the free?

My God, there must be a million points of view.
But I think I hear you saying, (Me? What about you?) that only one will do.
There's only one good as gold; one that's sure. One that's true.
Only one opinion counts, and that one belongs to you.

Somebody has to be wrong. Somebody has to be right.
Logic, reason, persuasion, what ever it takes, win the fight.
If that does not convince, up the ante, use some might.
It's not a pretty sight. We got no rules for this fight.

(Chorus)

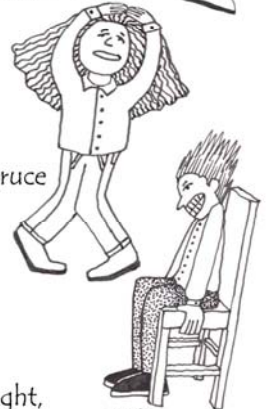

Every button must be pushed. Why it's only self-defense.
What are you saying about my relatives? What an insult. I take offense!
We dig up every issue. Arsenals exhausted. It's tense.
Sabbotaging ourselves makes no sense.

Below-the-belt hits and sacks of grudges are tactics we choose.
We work in stinging sarcasm, while we tease, taunt, and accuse.
Stones break bones, but our words cut deep. There's no sign of a truce
Disconnected, broken-hearted, no winners, we both lose?

(Chorus)

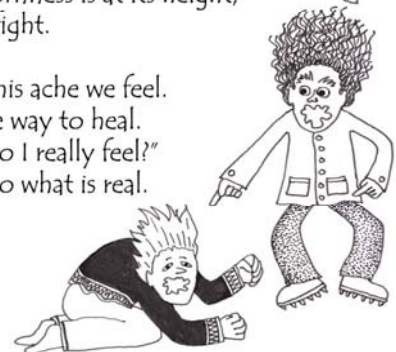

It started as a molehill. Now, it's a mountain growing out of sight.
Who started this? I don't care. Say, "Uncle". Say, "I'm right".
When we begin to scream and shout, and stubbornness is at its height,
The conflict fuels and flares. It's a never ending fight.

This endless cursing and discourse will not heal this ache we feel.
To believe in lies, or withdraw and hide is not the way to heal.
Be brave; take the inward journey. Ask, "How do I really feel?"
Love, pure love, love and only love, will lead us to what is real.

(Chorus)
